your composition. Hongkong Nov. 19. The Evans tournament at the Hongkong Chass Club began last Monday and some very interesting games were played. In no _ case was the gambit declined and in almost every case the attack won. Mr Pollock won one game from Mr Souza and Col. O'Gorman won his game with Mr Danenberg. Mr Pidgeon won two games of Mr Cooke and Mr De Josus won a game and drew a game with Mr Barlow. The competition is to be continued to night and Monday next. On Friday the 27th inst, a single-game match will be played—Under Thirty-five c. Over Thirty-five. In this connection itis noteworthy that the average age of the eight original prize winners at Nuremberg was under thirty-ope and if we omit the youths of six and twenty.

First, Janowski won 4, drew 1, lost 2. Second, Marcezy won 2, drew 4, lost 1 and Pillsbury won 3, drew 2, lost 2. Fourth, Lasher ton 2, drew 3, lost 2 and Tarrasch won 2, drew 3, lost 2 and Walbrodt won 1 drew 5, lost 1. Seventh, Steinitz won 2. of his opponent. draw 1 lost 4 and Schlechter won 0, draw 5 lost 2.

This is the result of reckoning only the games that the eight played among themselves, and the calculation quite justifies all that I have said in this column about Janowski and Maroczy, and America's pride in the hero of Hastings.

All players will learn with regret that after conducting it most ably for seventeen years, his Hoffer has been compelled to suspend the publication of the Chess Month ly. In the concluding number, which has just reached me, he says-'Chess Literature has grown apace since I started the Chess Monthly, seventeen years ago, together with the late Dr Zukertort, and since his untimely death in Jane, 1888, I have conducted it single-handed, except the problem department, at considerable loss of time, not to mention the pecuniary of love, and I was ambitious to complete twenty volumes; but I am with great reluctance compelled to forego the luxury of further deficita."

It does not seem creditable to the Chees public, a large and increasing one, that they should fail to support a shilling monthly but the very number of chass players is probably one reason for the failure. Most weeklies, and a fair proportion of daily papers now publish a chess column. One remarkable feature in the Nuremberg Tournament was the prompti- for Singapore as follows :- From England the same day's date published the scores of been engaged to take home 165 men, include shops and Factory, Duddell St.; Show in fact, has ing 15 for Egypt and the Mediterranean, Rooms, Queen's Road Central. pessed four of the region of the monthly smbarking the troops about 17th January megazines and if Mr Hoffer could be indirect to take charge of a weekly penny or Formost, says the Yorodzii Choko, has been ly, I do. This week's problem is an becontric one. It took the first prize in the Leeds Mercury letter problem tourney, the condition being that each problem in its original position should represent some letter of the alphabet. THE NEW CONSERVANCY CONTRACT.

A specification of the new conservancy contract was submitted. The President said copies of the specification had been in the hands of the members for about a month. He thought it was desirable that the work should be done under contract in view of the refusal of the private night soil coolies to form a committee to consult with the Board. He proposed that the Board go into committee to consider | dow, and that window was shut with halfthe specification, and afterwards that it be adopted by the Board and forwarded to the Colonial Secretary, and if found in order by the Crown Solicitor the usual Government notification be given by its insertion in the Gazetto. ILLEGAL DETENTION. Lai Sul was charged in six counts with having detained a girl against her will for an immoral purpose.

He pleaded not guilty. Hon. H. E. Pollock, Acting Attorney General, (instructed by Mr A. B. Johnson) conducted the case for the crown : Mr E. Robinson (instructed by Mr K. W. Mounsoy) represented the prisoner. The following jurors were sworn:-Messra A. Lee, L. Buindcague, A. A. H.

Botelho, W. Boffey, G. J. Sequeira, A. A. M. Marshall, and G. R. Stevens. Mr Pollock said the complainant in the case was a girl about seventeen years of age. Some time in September or August this year, when the complainant was in the country near her native place, a woman went up to her and told her sister wanted to see her, and she would take her to her sister. The complainant went with the woman and on the way the woman administered some medicine to her in her food, the effect of that medicine being that she became dazed and dizzy, and while in that state she was put on board a junk and taken down by this woman to Canton. At disease at Bombay is directly due tempts were made by this woman to induce the girl to live a life of prestitution. but the complainant refused. After she had been with this woman in Canton for some time, the wife of the defendant came to the complainant and on the promise of taking her home complainant was induced to go which the defendant is master. Defendabsent, and the domplainant seized the opportunity of getting out of the house, and once in the street she got some men to direct her to the police station, where she informed the Police of the affair. In consequence of that information the defendant was arrested. While in that brothel the defendant and his wife tried to induce here to become a prostitute, which she refused to do. The complainant would tell them that the defendant and his wife shut her up in a small room at the back of the house, which had only one winshutters and fastened down by nails from the outside. There was only one door in this room, and that door was fastened by a wooden bar from the outside. She was shot up in this room with the view intimidating her to become a prostitute. In the day-time she was allowed to go into

The Foreign Secretary of the Society (the Rev. R. Wardlaw Thompson) said there were books in the Lockhart Library which were not to be found in the British Museum and as a whole, it was unrivalled in the world." It consisted of some 2600 bound works and an enormous collection of and catalogued by the Rev. Goodeve Mabbs and had taken over six months to complete. The catalogue was contained in three large volumes, and, in order to make the library valuable to scholars and experts, it ough to be printed. Dr Lockhart purchased the books under the most favourable conditions, and spent 1000%, upon them; bu their intrinsic value at the present time was considerably greater than that amount.

Under the above heading the London Engineer recently reviewed the condition of sanitary matters in our Chinese colonly It directed special attention to the circumstances under which the late outbreak of bubonic plague there still smouldered in the settlement. According to the Engineer, sufficient had not been done to effectually stamp out the elements of contagion. pointed out that so longasthese still existed, so long must there remain the chance of the plague being imported into other countries from the island. Apparently this anticipa-"tion was not ill-founded. Without having evidence sufficient to warrant an assertion that the late appearance of the Canton, it would appear that some at importation from Hongkong, it must seem reasonable to suppose that it derived its origin thence. It is manifest that if infection has arisen from this source, not only was the Engineer justified in uttering the warning that it did, but that it must behave the authorities of Ceylon to take special measures to exclude it from on board a steamer which brought ber obtaining introduction inter-this island. down to Hongkong. The special plague spots in the settlement. These were mainly in position between the spurs of the hills into which the wind scarcely, if ever, penetrated. They admitted that on such sites it was desirable to remove every trace of former human habitation. But to carry this out must of necessity be costly, and local funds did not admit of the money required being provid-The Engineer commented upon this, and wrote that such insufficiency should be met by an Imperial grant in Imperial interest. This advice, so far as is known, has not been followed; these plague spots remain giving rise to occasional cases by which outside infection may be caused. Already has the disease spread to Bombay. Who can say how far afield it may not extend from that place as a newly-created centre? This form of disease is not only most deadly, but it is most insidious. The conditions in Bombay are no doubt more favourable to combating the outbreak than those that prevailed in Hongkong, but measures cannot be too soon or too thoroughly taken. We think it desirable that, under such a condition of affairs as exists. the attention of our Municipality should be specially directed to such localities within its jurisdiction as are the most excluded from free currents of wind, and to the required measures for—sanitary cleanliness within them. -Observer.

HÜNGKONG SHARE MARKET. Mesers Benjamin, Kelly and Potts in their weekly share report, dated Hongkong, Wednesday, 18th November, 1896, state :----

There has been a better demand for stocks during the week, and with but few exceptions, rates have been well maintained, and in several instances show a decided gain to holders.

Banks.—Hongkong and Shanghai Banks are decidedly firmer, and although only a danger of famine, and hopes relief will few shares have changed hands for cash at 182 and 183 per cent premium, a good many have been sold on time, mostly for March, at 193 per cent premium, the buying all being from the North. London quotation is £42. Bank of China Deferred Shares continue in demand at £5. Nationals remain unchanged.

Marine Insurances.—All stocks under this heading have ruled very quiet and no sales have taken place. Straits are offering from the North at 827 Fire Insurances.-Although Hongkong Fires have been in strong demand and have improved their position considerably, only small sales at $3471, 8351, and $3521 have

THE TRIPLE ALLIANCE-ASTOUNDING REVELATIONS.

London, November 6.—The Neue Freie Presse publishes a fresh revelation, which is ascribed to Prince Bismarck, and, according to which, during 1875, a Russian diplomat told Prince Bismarck that the Russian Army was clamouring to be employed. Shortly afterwards, the Czar sounded Bismarck as to whether Germany would acquiesce with Russia in attacking Austria, and some time later the German Ambassador at St. Petersburg was similarly sounded. Prince Bismarck thereupon informed the Emperor William, who recalled the Ambassador from St. Petersburg, and the idea of an attack on Austria was abandoned, but Russia finally declared war on Turkey.

Yesterday afternoon, what might have proved a very serious, disturbance occurred at the Municipal Infectious Diseases Honpital. It appears that a foolish alarm has taken possession of the minds of the lower class of Hindus employed in the mills in the neighbourhood of the hospital, that any native appearing ill is pounced upon by the Police and forcibly carried off to the Infectious hospital on pretence that he is a victim of the plague. It has also been asserted that, while there, come sort of poison is administered to the petient, and that, before death ensure, his body is morcliesly dissected for experimental purposes. These rumours have preved so much on the minds of the labouring classes that many were aimid to leave their homes. In consequence of all this, several hundred mill hands determined to take vengeance on the hospital. On leaving the mills for their midday meal yesterday, they collected in large numbers outside the compound of the hospital and began to throw atones at the buildings. - Information was at once sent to the Pelice, who strived promptly on the spot and dispersed the rioters. THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

THY EDGAR BESANT. The present disturbance at the Philippine Islands recalls to my mind a somewhat similar attempt made by the Mesticos some twenty-five years ago. My friend and myself were at the time on a visit to the Philippine Islands, and, after a run to Iloilo and Zebu by the steamed running from Manila, had returned to the latter place. On our arrival we found everybody in a great state of excitement, owing to an insurrection which had taken place a few days before at Cavite, a garrison town, distant-from Manila about 13 miles by land and eight by water, the arsenal and docks being there. The name 'Cavite' is more familiar to Manila eigar smokers as a special brand of cigars. On the previous Saturday, about nine or ten o'clock in the evening, the native troops garrisoning Fort Philip, about 300 in number, rose and murdered their Commandante, and other officers, and then took possession of the fort, where they fought and held out till Monday morning, when they had to give in, and by order of the Coptain-General every man found in the fort was killed, no quarter being given. Several managed to escape by jumping into the sea, and getting into the woods, but most of these were captured and condemned to be shot or to imprisonment for life. It appeared from papers found afterwards that a general rising was intended throughout the Philippines, in order to kill or expel all foreigners. Several people holding good positions were taken into custody on suspicion of being implicated, among the number a lawyer and several padges. The Governor, fortunately, was a man who stood no nonsense, and by his prompt action no doubt saved many lives and a great deal of trouble. One of the priests went to him to intercede for the prisoners, He replied, 'I know my business; you go and attend to yours. I shall shoot the rebels, you can pray for their souls." The general rising was said to have miscarried, owing to the Cavitemen mistaking display of fierworks for the signal to rise; and this doubtless saved the lives of the Spanish and foreign residents. Another account said that the Governor had received private information respecting the signal that was to be made from the fort in Manila, and had a guard posted, who made passeners of the intended signallers on the spot. The garrison consisted of about 4,000 men, all being Mestizos or Indians, with the exception of one regiment, consisting entirely of Spaniards. Even among the officers there was a great number of Mestizos.

In the afternoon we went to Cavite by the steamer and had a look at the fort, and were surprised to find few signs of battery except in the trees, which were very much cut up, and great numbers of bullets visible, partly embedded in the wood. We were stopping with an English gentleman. who had married a Spanish lady, and during that night he came into our room armed with a sword, and woke us, saying, 'Don't be frightened, but Major-, a Spanish officer living next door, has just sent in to say that he has received official intimution that a general rising is expected to-night. Dr Angier and that all the Indian servants are to take Mr Beesens part in it. Our host then brought us what Mc L. Barindoague Mr Liouze defensive weapons he could find, but could Mr B. J. Barlow Mr Barbour produce no firearms, as they were all at his Mr J. W. Bolles office. He suggested that we should lock our door, but the key, which was on the Loutside, could not be induced to come out of the lock, so my friend A. moved his mat, and laid down in front of the door, but we were not disturbed, the slarm having proved a false one. Some of the mutineers were to be shot in public in the morning, so at six o'clock we drove to the Calzada. On arriving there we found about 1,700 troops assembled, consisting of lancers, pack artillery, garrison artillery, and infantry, with four or five military bands. These were shortly after formed into three sides of a square, the cavalry and artillery being on either side, in rear of the infantry, the disgrave. About this time the Governor-General appeared in a carriage and four escorted by a troop of lancers. He alighted, and went into the middle of the square, and stood chatting with the Deputy Captain-General and a few other officers. The Town Major then marched round with a band and company of non-commissioned officers from the | Mr and Mrs Joseph Mr Ernest Young various regiments, and stopping at each side of the square, proclaimed that any person asking pardon for the condemned would do so at the risk of his life. Nobody Mr M. Alabert did so, and the non-commissioned officers Mr and Mrs H. L. Mr T. W. Hornby returned to their respective regiments. The firing party, about 40 men, wore Mc and Mrs A. The officer in command | Mr and Mrs. Shelton Mr G. Visvianos of the firing party had to send for some more executioners, as they might well be called. Two men were sent with loaded muskets to finish the unfortunate, and they fired at him so closely that his clothes were set on fire; but he still moved, and the Cap. Abrenkiel officer then drew his revolver and handed Mrs Abrankiel.

TE RECEDENCE.

place in the Philippine Islands, this short account of the result of an attempted rising may be of interest. I may add that I was told that one of the great grievances on the part of the Mestizos who mutinied was the non-payment of their wages, which were greatly in arrear.-Globe.

THE CLIMATE OF ENGLAND. THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

At the Sanitry Congress, at Newcastle, an interesting address was delivered by Mr. W. H. Dines on climate and its effect upon the average length of life.

There could be no doubt, he said, that climate had a most important bearing upon health. Tropical countries were proverbially unhealthy. Few Europeans could live in them for any length of time, and the average length of life of the natives was not long: The most unhealthy climates were those of sea coasts near [the equator, which had an average temperature of about 80 deg., with a high relative humidity, and where the thermometer never rose much about 00 deg. or fell much below 70 deg. Although the inland districts were not so bad, yet, so fuf as he was aware, there was no district of any size within the tropics that could be called healthy. We were now apt to think that the east wind was not good for us, but in Shakespeare's time it was the southwest and south winds that had a bad name. It had been suggested that the higher death-rate of a city was due, not to the impurity of the air, but to the fact that PRICE LISTS. the occupation of city people mostly kept them indoors, whereas in the country it kept them them out of doors, and the suggestion seemed very plausible. Three ways occurred to him by which we might test the influence of climate in health: first by taking the death-rate in various districts and seeing whether any relation dependent on climate could be found : socondly, by the returns for the British Army; and, thirdly, by studying the va-Pintion in the death-rate for some large district from year to year and seeing who ther any relation between it and the meteorological elements could be found. He gave details derived in these ways, and incidentally said that the popular idea seemed to be that South Africa had a good climate. He had seen it stated both of Egypt and South Africa that they had the LUONGKONG TELEPHONE EXCHANGE healthiest climates, in the world, whereas figures led to the conclusion, that, out of No. the tropics, they had the most unhealthy. 129. - Aberdoen, Paper Mills Office. Rainier Beer, Try it!

Rainier Beer, Try it.

REMARKS.

Unsurpassed as a tonic for the ladies. Once tried by them they will agree with the remarks of our other lady friends and continue to patronize us. For the gentlemen it is a cooling and refreshing drink. All who have tried it stand by it. We only ask one trial and will then rest on our merits.
